The 2nd International Symposium on Biotelemetry was held in Davos, Switzerland, in May 1974. The symposium brought together scientists and engineers from around the world to discuss the latest advances in biotelemetry technology.

The proceedings of the symposium have been published in a two-volume set. The first volume contains the papers presented at the symposium, while the second volume contains the discussions of the papers.

The papers in the first volume are divided into six sections:

1. Transducers and Sensors
2. Signal Conditioning and Processing
3. Telemetry Systems
4. Telemetry Applications
5. Biomaterials and Implants
6. Future Trends in Biotelemetry

The papers in the second volume are divided into three sections:

1. Medical Applications of Biotelemetry
2. Non-Medical Applications of Biotelemetry
3. Future Trends in Biotelemetry

The proceedings of the 2nd International Symposium on Biotelemetry are a valuable resource for anyone interested in the latest advances in biotelemetry technology.
