Harper James is a successful businesswoman who is used to getting what she wants. She's intelligent, ambitious, and doesn't have time for games. When she meets Ethan Maxwell, a charming and carefree artist, she's immediately put off by his laid-back attitude and sarcastic sense of humor.

Ethan, on the other hand, is instantly attracted to Harper's beauty and intelligence. He's used to women falling at his feet, but Harper is different. She's challenging, independent, and doesn't seem to be interested in him at all.

Despite their initial dislike for one another, Harper and Ethan can't help but be drawn to each other. They spend more and more time together, and slowly but surely, their feelings for each other begin to change.

But their relationship is far from easy. Harper is afraid of getting hurt, and Ethan is afraid of commitment. They both have their own baggage and insecurities to deal with, and they have to learn to trust each other before they can truly be happy together.

Instant Attraction is a beautifully written and emotionally resonant love story. Shalvis does an amazing job of creating characters that are both relatable and lovable. Harper and Ethan are both flawed and complex, and their journey to love is filled with both laughter and tears.

This book is perfect for fans of romance novels, women's fiction, and contemporary fiction. It's a story that will stay with you long after you finish reading it.
