This groundbreaking book brings together the voices of Palestinians and Israelis who have participated in a unique dialogue program, sharing their personal stories, fears, and hopes for the future.

For decades, the conflict between Israelis and Palestinians has been characterized by violence, mistrust, and misunderstanding. But amidst the turmoil, there are also those who are working to build bridges between the two communities.

This book is a collection of stories from Palestinians and Israelis who have participated in a dialogue program run by the Peres Center for Peace.

Through these stories, we learn about the challenges and rewards of building relationships across the divide.

We hear from Palestinians who have lost loved ones to Israeli violence, and from Israelis who have been the victims of Palestinian terrorism. We hear from both sides about the pain and fear that they have experienced, but we also hear about their hope for a better future.

This book is a powerful reminder that even in the midst of conflict, there is always hope for reconciliation. It is a must-read for anyone who is interested in understanding the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, and for anyone who believes in the power of dialogue.
